

LEAD AND COPPER RULE REVISIONS

SERVICE LINE INVENTORY

The Lead and Copper Rule revisions, which went into effect under the guidance of the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) in December 2021, are meant to reduce exposure to lead and copper from water pipes and plumbing.

The rule revisions set forth two main requirements. First, the rule requires water utilities to develop inventories of lead service lines in their service areas and to share that information with their communities with a compliance deadline of October 16, 2024. Second, the rule requires water utilities to develop plans to remove all lead service lines in their entirety over time.

Every water system must provide a publicly accessible lead service line inventory or a statement of no lead service lines.

Any member of the public can request a copy of our service line inventory.
